

FROM THE DESK OF THE CHIEF OF POLICE

POLICE DEPARTMENT GETS NEW BODY CAMERAS

In the times we are living in, liability is one of the biggest concerns we have to deal with. With the ever-increasing occurrence of law suits, it is more and more necessary to document every encounter our officers have with the public. This is done both by completing necessary paperwork as well as using video documentation. The department's body cameras are aging devices with outdated technology and have become undependable. I am proud to announce that through private donations raised by Kris Burk, the department has ordered new body cameras for all officers. These cameras have the newest technology and will help us more accurately use video documentation to protect the Lake Tansi Police Department and the Lake Tansi POA from liability. The donations made through the efforts of Mr. Burk has enabled the acquisition of these devices at no cost to the POA. I want to thank him greatly for his efforts. I ask that if you have the opportunity, please take a moment to express your gratitude to him for his service to the Lake Tansi community.

Anthony Brown, Chief of Police